My most grateful thanks are due to Mr A.J.Howard for help in the transcription work; to Dr R.S.Schofield for kindly lending me, and allowing me to quote from, his unpublished Ph.D thesis Parliamentary Lay Taxation 1485-1547, a massively documented work which was of great help to me in writing the introduction; and to Professor W.G.Hoskins for the use of some figures, taken from The Age of Plunder , in my table of yields on p.xv.
The transcript of the Crown copyright rolls in the Public Record Office, which are listed on p.xvi, appears by permission of the Controller of H.M.Stationery Office.

The subsidy rolls of 1524-7 are, with a few minor exceptions, the first taxation lists giving the names of Devon inhabitants since the subsidy of 1332, the return of which, edited by Mrs Erskine, has been published by the Devon and Cornwall Record Society. This tax, known as the 15th and 10th since it taxed individuals on their moveable goods at a rate of 1/15th in the country and 1/10th in the towns continued as the principal means of taxation into the early 16th century and afterwards as a subsidiary tax until 1623. However after 1332 the rules were changed and instead of concerning itself with individuals the Crown negotiated with each vill - that is the lowest administrative unit be it a tithing, a parish, or a town or part of a town - a fixed sum which the vill itself was responsible for collecting. Despite this there were some taxes in the 14th and 15th centuries which were directly assessed on individuals but few lists have survived and except for the poll tax they were concerned only with the wealthy. These taxes are:

1. In 1377 a poll tax of 4d was levied on everyone over the age of 14 and was followed by two further poll taxes in 1379 and 1381. This was an important tax and is valuable for population studies but unfortunately only the receipts of money into the exchequer survive for Devon, not the lists of individual payers.
2. Seven minor taxes on the wealthy in the years 1404, 1412, 1428, 1431, (withdrawn) 1436, 1450, and 1472 (withdrawn). For Devon those liable for the subsidies of 1404 and 1412 are given in E179.95/69 and 95/77 respectively, the latter being printed in Feudal Aids Vol.6.[1]
3. 1489. An income tax of 10% on income from land over 10 marks with a tax on personal property. The individual assessments were not to be recorded at the exchequer or any other court of record and although the return for Exeter has survived and been transcribed by Mrs Rowe in Tudor Exeter[2] its survival is due to the fact that it was a local record kept in Exeter.
4. 1497 and 1503. In both these years there was a tax on those having a yearly income from land of £20 or possessing 10 marks worth of goods. The returns do not survive for Devon.

In the early years of the reign of Henry VIII the scope of the directly assessed subsidy was greatly widened and the foundation laid for the 1524 and later Tudor and Elixabethan subsidies. In 1512 there was a graduated poll tax based on rank and value of real and personal property and in 1514 a tax of 6d in the £ on lands goods and wages and a poll tax of 4d on all those over 15 years of age not otherwise rated. Since it did not reach its target figure of £160,000 in the first year it was repeated in 1515 and 1516. Unfortunately it was not then the practice to return to the exchequer lists of taxpayers names and none have survived for Devon.

In 1522, in order to finance the war with France, the ground work was laid for a series of taxes, unprecedented in scale, which were to be levied during the following five years. These were the loans of 1522 and 1523, the anticipation of 1523, the subsidies for the years 1524 and 1525, the amicable grant of 1525 and the subsidies for the years 1526 and 1527. The amicable grant was a request by Henry VIII for a gift of one sixth of every man's wealth and aroused so much opposition that it had to be withdrawn. The other taxes are considered below.

In 1522 Wolsey ordered an extensive survey of the wealth of everyone in the country together with a general muster which, however desirable in itself, also served to conceal the true intention of the survey. When the results of the survey were to hand - the individual assessments do not survive for Devon (except Exeter printed in Tudor Exeter) - an enforced loan was instituted. It seems to have been successful in being obligatory although there was no parliamentary authority for it. It was supposed to have been repayed out of the proceeds of the following subsidy but in fact never was and an act of 1529 regularised its position as legal taxation on the ground that it was all used in military expenditure. In two stages in the autumn of 1522 and the spring of 1523 it taxed at the rate of 2/- in the £ first those with goods or income from land of from £20 upwards and in the second stage those between £5 and £20. Loan books of those liable were made up from the survey but the only one to survive for Devon is an incomplete one for the East Budleigh group of hundreds for the £5-£20 class which is here printed on p. 246. A comparison of this with the 1524 subsidy roll shows that in some parishes there are individuals in the subsidy assessed at £5 or more who do not appear in the loan list but this does not necessarily imply that they evaded the loan as the 1524 assessment was a fresh one, or there may have been movements between parishes in the interval. A feature of the Devon list too is that although the assessment on goods is from £5 upwards those holding land are taxed on assessments down to £1 though this apparently was not called for.

In the first half of 1523 after an attempt by Wolsey to raise £800,000 by a levy of 4/- in the £, and after prolonged argument, the Commons granted a subsidy on income and on the capital value of goods in terms which may be divided into three categories :

1. On income from land and other yearly income, such as fees and annuities but not wages, at the rate of 1/- in the £ for each of the two years 1524 and 1525.
2. On the capital value of goods of from £2 upwards. Goods of £20 and more attracted the same rate as those with lands, that is 1/- in the £. Those with goods valued at under £20 down to and including £2 paid 6d in the £ in each case yearly as above.
3. The third category on wages and on goods under £2 has caused some confusion and for this reason I give the passage from the act (14 & 15 Henry VIII c.16) in full. "And of every maner person borne under the Kynges obeysaunce being of the age of 16 years or above and being of the value of 40/- in goods or taking any dayely weekly or yerely wages or other profettes for wages to the yerely value of 20/- or above, and having none other substaunce wherby the same person should or ought to be set accordyng to this acte as is aforesaid at higher or gretter sum 4d yerely during the said twoo yeres". Taken literally the tax on goods of £2 conflicts with that given in the previous section and to my mind this clause only makes sense if the word "under" is inserted before 40/- so that everyone with goods of under £2 or wages of any amount was to pay 4d yearly, and a contemporary letter to the Earl of Surrey describing the proceedings in Parliament says that everyone under 40/- was to pay 4d.[3] Broadly speaking this is also what happened in practice though the common habit in Devon of assessing in intermediate steps between £1 and £2 introduced some complications which will be discussed later. The "none other substaunce" part of the clause was probably drafted to exclude servants who had goods higher in value than their wages and there are two servants in the Devon roll assessed at £20 and £26 in goods. The original act is not in the House of Lords and the printed version in Statutes of the Realm is taken from the chancery copy, C65/137, which has been checked on this point. It is known that chancery copies did sometimes differ from the original acts.

In all categories and at all rates of taxation aliens had to pay double the rate or, if they were not otherwise liable, a poll tax of 8d.

After they had passed these grants for the years 1524 and 1525 the Commons added two further grants which were to be levied only on those worth £50 or more, in 1526 on those who possessed this amount in income from lands and in 1527 on those who had this amount in goods, in both cases at the rate of 1/- in the £1. Later still in October 1523, the king appealed to those possessed of £40 or more to pay at once their tax for the first year of the subsidy instead of waiting for it to be collected from them in the ordinary way. This was called the anticipation and separate commissioners were appointed for it. In Devon these were the Bishop of Exeter, Sir Piers Eggecombe, Sir William Carew, Sir John Kyrkham, Sir Thomas Denys, Sir Edward Pomerey, Richard Halse, John Haydon and John Gilbert and Thomas Hache (collectors)[4]. The assessment was based on the previous loan book but it was sometimes revised, either upwards or downwards. The list for Devon is given on p.234 from which it will be seen that not everyone who qualified actually paid it.

General Administration of the Subsidy

Parliament having granted the subsidy the administration of it was passed to commissioners in each county who were in overall charge of the whole operation of assessing individuals, collecting the money from them and paying it into the exchequer. There were four different types of individuals involved in this :-

1. The commissioners. These were appointed by Parliament, 50 altogether for Devon. They had to be resident in the county and were amongst the leading citizens with individual assessments mostly of £40 or more. They divided themselves into 16 groups, apart from Exeter which had a separate commission, each group concerning itself with from one to four hundreds. A list of those responsible for each group is on p.249. They remained the same for all four years and they appointed the officials in the other three categories.

2. The high collectors. There were 4 of these for each of the years 1524 and 1525 and 2 for each of the years 1526 and 1527. They could not be compelled to serve for more than one year and did not in fact do so. They were substantial citizens of the gentry, merchant or yeoman class, again nearly all rated at £40 or more. One of the high collectors for 1524, John Coplestone of Colebrooke, was at 1000 marks (£666) the highest rated man in Devon in that year. Their task was to collect the money from the subcollectors and transport it to the exchequer.

3. The subcollectors, whose task was to collect the money from individuals and hand it over to the high collectors. "Sufficient and substantial inhabitants" of each parish were appointed for this. Their names as such are not given in the parish lists here transcribed but their names were to be given in a certificate from the commissioners to the high collectors together with the total sums of money to be collected from each parish. An incomplete return of these certificates is in E179.96/141,142 but not all of them give the names of the subcollectors. Names from those that do are given on p.250. Their individual assessments vary widely from £2 to £123 but mostly they tend to be around the £20 level. In this limited selection there are never less than two, even in parishes where there was less than £1 to be collected, but in other counties for which the returns have been printed there is sometimes only one subcollector in a parish. It is not possible to discover whether the subcollectors in Devon changed each year as the returns mentioned are only for 1524 but in Sussex parishes they usually, but not always, changed in the two years 1524 and 1525.

4. The assessors. The names of these men are never given but they were local men of good standing similar to the subcollectors. Two or more of the "most substantial discrete and honest persons inhabitants" were appointed in each parish. Both they and the subcollectors had to handle lists of names and figures and unless they received clerical assistance, of which there is no mention in the act, they must have been literate. Unlike the other officials they received no remuneration whatever. It is possible that in some parishes they may have been the same people as the subcollectors - at any rate there is nothing in the act to prevent this.

The Assessment

The assessment took place about Michaelmas each year, this being the best time, after the harvest had been gathered in. Before this the assessors were called together by the commissioners, briefed on the act, and sworn to "truely enquire with my fellows that shall be sworn with me.....of the best and most value and substance of every person dwelling or abiding within the limits of the places that I and my fellows shall be charged with". They were allowed 6 weeks for the assessment and were given a day on which they were to return to the commissioners their assessments which were to contain the name of every person, stating whether he was an alien or not, whether he was a servant in the household of any other person, and the "best value of every person in every degree". Dr Schofield in his extensive coverage of material for this subsidy did not come across any assessors books and it is unlikely that any have survived as they were superseded by the commissioners certificates.[5]

In the 1522 survey the instructions were that individuals were to give evidence of their wealth on oath on which the commissioners were to act unless they had reason to think that the declaration was false in which case they were to examine the neighbours[6], though it is doubtful if evidence on oath was always followed. The assessment for the subsidy was a fresh one and evidence on oath was not required in the first instance, only on appeal or if the commissioners were not satisfied. It is highly probable that the assessors simply enquired of the man his wealth being guided by their local knowledge and relying also on the 1522 survey. The commissioners final certificates for East Budleigh, Colyton and Ottery St Mary hundreds are exceptional in their detail since they give on numerous occasions the reason why the assessment for 1524 differed from that of 1522. The phrase used is that, for example, John Smith was assessed at the prest (loan) at £6 but due to various stated vicissitudes he was now only worth £3. Some of these here given assessments at the prest are less than £5 so it seems likely that at least in these hundreds the commissioners had access not just to the loan books where the minimum was £5 but to the whole of the 1522 survey. The assessments of 1525 also differ sometimes from those of 1524, either up or down, and it is clear that the requirement of the act for a fresh assessment in 1525 was carefully complied with. At least in this group of hundreds too the 1525 assessors, where a man assessed the previous year had left the parish, noted down his new place of abode. This would enable the commissioners to trace him and make sure that he was taxed.

The commissioners had the power to call before them anyone whom they considered to be undervalued and require him to give evidence of his wealth on oath and this evidence was to be accepted. Persons not appearing or refusing to be sworn were to be taxed double and this happened to John Cole of Cornwood, one of the high collectors for 1524 (see p.175). Equally the man himself could elect to give evidence on oath before the commissioners if he considered himself to be overrated. In the absence of the assessors books it is impossible to say which of these two is the basis of the majority of the reviews given in these rolls. It seems most likely that the assessors rated these men at their 1524 value, as indeed they were required to do, and that the commissioners, noticing the difference between their assessment and that of the loan, called the men in to give evidence on oath. There are only two instances in which an appeal by the men themselves is almost certain, since they dispute their assessments at the loan as well as the current ones - Roger Stoke of Littleham and Edmond Rowland of Zeal Monachorum. As well as the East Budleigh group these reviews are also given in Witheridge, South Molton and North Tawton hundreds, though on nothing like the same scale. Lifton hundred too has several assessments marked "and no more on his oath", indicating that the man had been through the review procedure though no further details are given.

No attempt at a detailed definition of "goods" was made in the act. A few examples are given - coin, plate, stock of merchandise, harvested (but not standing) corn, and household stuff - and then the comprehensive phrase is introduced " and all other goods and chattells moveable". Money owing to the man that he considered would be repaid was included but he was entitled to deduct money owed by him to others which he intended to repay. Apart from this the only specific exemption is personal apparel "saving Juels of gold". Personal clothing was assessed in the 1522 survey and is a frequent cause of reduction in 1524. One of the biggest causes of such a reduction too was debts which were unlikely to be repaid. One of the most frequently quoted offenders was Henry Stafford, Earl of Wiltshire, who by marriage to Cecily, Marchioness of Dorset, became the overlord of many estates in East Devon. He owed, amongst others, John Rondell of Littleham £9 for fresh and salt fish "the which will never be paid". As Henry Stafford died in March 1523 this may represent the difficulty of getting money from the executors of an estate. Other causes of reduction were loss of livestock in the murrain, a word which R.Trow-Smith says covered every source of loss except theft and deliberate slaughter[7]; fire; theft - "thief stolen" is the delightful contemporary phrase; capture by the French; sickness; burial expenses, heriots and mortuaries for the executors of an estate were liable for the tax; gifts made on the marriage of children; and in one case legal expenses incurred by a man who was claimed as a bondman by Lord Fitzwarren and was "sorely vexed and troubled by him". But perhaps the final claim is the best of all, that for Joan Oliver of Ottery St Mary who by bequests in her will "yn many diverse ways for the welth of her soul" reduced her estate from £100 to £20. Despite the loss of revenue the commissioners full report seems deservedly tinged with affection. Quite large changes in wealth from one year to another do occur throughout the rolls and these East Budleigh group reviews point the way to an explanation for them.

There were two special points about the assessment. Firstly a man could only be taxed in one category, that is on lands or goods or wages. He is occasionally assessed on lands and goods and the two assessments given in the roll (see p.123) but the tax is only on the one which gave the highest return to the crown. Secondly he could only be taxed in one place, normally the place of his principal residence. If he was assessed in more than one place it was open to him to obtain a certificate from the place where he was taxed and on production of this to the commissioners in other places taxation there was stopped. Dr Schofield has examined 3,490 of these double assessments and shown that in a third of the cases the assessments were identical from which he concludes that the assessment in the man's place of residence was on his total wealth and not just on his wealth in one place.[5]

There were two numerically small groups who were not assessed by the local assessors. The commissioners were assessed by their fellow commissioners and peers were assessed by the Lord Chancellor or other persons appointed by the King. The clergy were assessed and taxed on their spiritual wealth in a separate clerical subsidy with which we are not concerned here. They were, however, liable for the lay subsidy on any temporal lands they held and two cases occur in the Devon roll in Awliscombe and Culmstock. In the latter case the vicar was assessed at 10/-, and taxed 6d, in lands though this was apparently against the rules, the lower limit being normally taken as £1. The act itself simply says that the rate was to be 1/- for every pound. There are also one or two instances in which men were assessed at less than one pound in goods.

The important question as to what extent the assessments were a true indication of a man's wealth is difficult to answer since there is very little other evidence against which to measure them. Certainly in later Elizabethan subsidies there was gross under assessment which was recognised by the crown itself which did not even expect the assessments to be realistic but this probably does not apply to this period to anything like the same extent. The most helpful evidence would have been probate inventories but few have survived in the south west for the first half of the 16th century. In Devon only one is extant before 1550[8]. This is Richard Poke who dies in 1531. His parish is not given in the inventory but it can be identified from the subsidy roll as Chudleigh where his two appraisers, John Boryngton and Roger Reve, precede him in the rolls for both 1524 and 1525. From the details given in his inventory he was fairly clearly a husbandman and his total estate was £6.10.0 whereas he was assessed at £2 in goods in the subsidy. Professor Hoskins in his analysis of Leicestershire probate inventories[9] gives the average estate of the husbandman in that county temp. Henry VIII as £14 and in particular he gives the names of two such men who are fairly suitable for the purpose; William Copeland of Queniborough who died in 1529 and left £15.12.2 and John Rothley of Syston died in 1531 and left £14.4.4. On reference to the 1524SR for Leicestershire one finds that the first of these men was assessed at £4 in goods and that there were two John Rothleys, one, the more likely, assessed at £3 in goods and the other at 30/- in lands. These examples are open to the objections firstly that we do not know if the probate inventories themselves accurately reflect a man's wealth and secondly that the two events were some 5 or 6 years apart but if there were more of them and they all showed a similar relationship the second objection would lose most of its force. F.W.Weaver's Somerset wills of the period 1528-1536[10] does give in many cases the total value of the estate, and though detailed inventories are not given and occupations but rarely, more examples could probably be found here. The other main possible source of information is manorial records of the time and for this reason, as much as any other, I have published at the same time as this work the extensive 1525 survey of the estates of Cecily Marchioness of Dorset who owned numerous manors in Devon as well as others in Cornwall, Dorset and Somerset.

Assessment on lands at low level is probably likely to be more accurate than any other. Rents were quite low at this period and if derived locally would be known accurately by the assessors. The question of wages is a little complicated by the fact that there were two wage scales, with or without food. By an act of 1514 the maximum rate of wages for a farm labourer living in and paid at an annual rate was 16/8d plus 4/- for clothing. A day labourer's rate for every day he worked was 3d in the winter and 4d in the summer, if without meat and drink, and half this rate if supplied with them. Thus a day labourer finding for himself and working 300 days a year could earn about £5 a year but Professor Hoskins considers that with the extensive holidays then prevalent and inability to work through bad weather a man would not work more than about half these days and puts the average wage of such a labourer at about 50/- a year[11]. The assessors may reasonably have taken the living in wage to be the going rate in which case wage assessments of £1 or so are about right. However evidence from the Cecily rentals shows that many who were assessed at £1 in goods or wages were in reality husbandmen. It must be said here that there is very little point in attempting to distinguish between an assessment of £1 in goods and £1 in wages, a point which will be considered in more detail later. There are at least 60 tenants rated at this amount - I have excluded those where there is more than one man of the same name in the parish or who held tenancies jointly with someone other than their immediate family. Although there are a few, particularly in Lympstone, who simply had a cottage and an acre or two, the majority had holdings of from 15 to 30 acres and occasionally more and often with common grazing rights in addition. There are a further 26 assessed at £2 in goods whose holdings are basically similar though they tended to have grazing rights for rather more stock than the W1/G1 group who generally had rights for 30 sheep and 6 cattle. These rights were closely tied to the amount of stock that a man could keep on his own holding during the winter. The East Budleigh reviews convemiemtly give us the price at which stock were valued for the purpose of the subsidy:- £1-£2 for a horse, an ox £1, a cow 13/4d, a bullock 6/8d,a pig 3/6d, and a sheep 1/-. Such a tenant therefore was clearly underrated at £1 and from the limited evidence presented here it would seem that the husbandman at the lower end of the scale was underrated by a factor of 3 or 4. This compares with Professor Chibnall's opinion in The 1524 Subsidy Roll for the County of Buckingham that the true assessment value probably reflects a factor of 2 or 3 instead of the 6 or more of the Elizabethan subsidy.

Collection of the tax

The assessors having returned their books to the commissioners the latter prepared lists for the subcollectors of the amounts they were to collect. To do this it was necessary for them to calculate the correct tax in each category and apart from a very occasional aberration no difficulty seems to have arisen in the tax on land and on goods from £2 upwards. Tax at rates of under £2 on goods and wages, and possibly also on wages from £2 upwards caused considerable confusion amongst the Devon commissioners and perhaps elsewhere too. That the act was not always administered as it should have been is illustrated by the fact that in Feb 1524 the king sent a letter to the commissioners of Wiltshire in consequence of the misinterpretation of the act, "ye not understanding the whole of the said act have in some things mistaken the same", though it is not known what particular piece of misunderstanding this refers to.[12]

The tax on wages was apparently at a flat rate of 4d irrespective of the amount of the wages. However it is worth noting that in the 1514 subsidy, on which this subsidy was in many respects modelled, the wording of the clause given on page iv is very similar with regard to wages with one exception. It runs : every person taking "wages or other profetts of wages to the value of 20/- or above or after that rate under the value of 40/- and having none other substance (etc)". Every additional pound in wages was then taxed 6d. It seems most likely that the real intention of parliament was to act similarly in this subsidy. At any rate in Devon all the commissioners without exception taxed £2 in wages and upwards at the same rate as goods, that is at 6d in the £. Wages and goods assessed at £1 were also invariably taxed at 4d. But wages or goods between £1 and £2 were often treated differently by different sets of commissioners and by the same set of commissioners in alternate years. It may well be that these intermediate assessments should not have been made in any case and that the intention was to assess in pound steps but nevertheless it was done right the way through the scale perhaps due to the not uncommon habit of reckoning in marks. In Wonford hundred in 1524 the tax between £1 and £2 was at a flat rate of 4d. In 1525 26/8d was taxed 8d, 30/- 9d and 33/4d 10d. In other groups 26/8d might be taxed 6d and so on. For further details of this see p.xviii.

B.D.Welchman©2004

At about the same time as the commissioners forwarded the lists to the subcollectors and ordered them to collect the tax they also prepared for the high collectors a certificate of the total sums to be collected from each parish with the names of the subcollectors. The high collectors then appointed places within their areas to which the subcollectors were to bring their money on a given date. The subcollectors were entitled to deduct 2d in the pound for their trouble. The high collectors, who then paid the money into the exchequer, were also entitled to deduct 2d in the pound for themselves and a further 2d, making 6d in the £ in all went to the commissioners for their expenses in making out the lists. Finally the commissioners were to meet together and compare their lists and they then had the option of returning a composite certificate to the exchequer for the whole county or each group could return separate certificates which is what happened in Devon and usually, if not always, in other counties too. In this case the first group to return its certificate, South Molton hundred in Devon, had to append to it a list of all the other commissioners divided into their several groups. Two copies of the certificate were to be made before Jan 14th each year, one copy to be sent to the exchequer and the other to the treasurer of the chamber. The certificates were to contain the names of the high collectors and "the gross and several sums written unto every such collector". I think this must mean the hundred, and possibly parish, totals because the high collectors did not in any case receive the names of individual taxpayers. It was the practice in this and following subsidies to append to the certificate which went to the exchequer a schedule containing the names of individual payers but there does not appear to be any requirement in the act that this should be so. It is these exchequer certificates with their schedules, now generally known as subsidy rolls, that are the subject of this transcript.

The Transcript

Exeter is omitted from this work because the 1524/5 roll for that city has been transcribed by Mrs Rowe in Tudor Exeter; the 1526 roll is a nil return and about half the names are illegible in that for 1527. Exeter apart, the commissioners having divided themselves into 16 groups, there should in theory be 16 rolls for each of the four years. In practice some are lost and others have become split up. By using either 1524 or 1525 rolls it has been possible to produce a return for one or other of these years for all hundreds with only 8 parishes completely missing and a further 12 partially missing. Their absence is due to damage to the membranes - there is no doubt that a complete return was made originally. IN comparison with many other counties Devon may consider itself fortunate in losing such a small proportion of the whole. The return too must be one of the largest, if not the largest, since Professor Hoskins, in a most valuable appendix to The Age of Plunder, gives Devon as having the largest tax yield of all counties for this subsidy, apart from London, being just ahead of Kent.The number of entries for one year in the Devon roll is 26,378. Only three other counties have had this subsidy published on a county scale - the approximate number of names being given in brackets - Suffolk (17,000), Sussex (12,000) and Buckingham (8,000).

The quality of the rolls varies greatly, from the superb East Budleigh group - a paper book rather than a true roll technically - through those like Ermington and Stanborough hundreds, which though complete present problems of legibility, to others which are, at least in part, mutilated or completely illegible, but by using either year it has been possible to overcome this to a large extent. Virtually all the available rolls have been transcribed (see table 7) but the practice has been to give where possible the 1524 roll as the main roll transcribed in full and to collate the 1525 roll with it, giving it at the end of each parish in the form of deletions from or additions to the 1524 list.This has only been done however where both parish lists are complete. If one is complete and the other defective then a full comparison is not possible and the defective list has been omitted entirely. This different type face has been used for all 1525 entries and where there are significantly different variants of names or where the assessment is changed in the 1525 roll this has been noted in brackets opposite the name in the 1524 roll. It is therefore possible to reconstruct the 1525 roll from that for 1524 in parishes where both are extant and legible, though not necessarily in the same order as the original. In many parishes the same order of names is followed in both rolls - a great help in identifying variant or difficult names and the replacement of a man by his widow - but in other parishes this is not so.

Except for the first group as an example the preambles to the rolls are not given - they are sometimes missing or illegible. The specific information they give is the names of the commissioners and high collectors and the date of the return, which in some cases was later than the due date in January. This information has been abstracted, supplemented from other sources, and given on p.249. A few preambles also give the totals collected from each hundred but this is also given at the foot of each hundred and need not be repeated.

The rolls give the name of each individual liable to the tax, occasionally with extras such as occupation or place of residence in a hamlet within the parish, and stating if he was an alien, and in two columns his assessment and the tax on it. This tax column has been omitted for space saving reasons and because it can be calculated with accuracy, except possibly for assessments between £1 and £2 as previously discussed. In the original the assessments are given in Roman numerals in shillings, pounds or marks, but here all are given in arabic numerals in pounds and fractions of a pound and the category is given as L, G or W representing assessments on lands, goods or wages respectively. Where assessments are defective and it is possible to do so they have been calculated from the tax paid. The total given at the foot of each parish is the total of the tax column but, as has been found by others who have worked on Tudor arithmetic, they are not always correct. They are usually not out by very much - a few pence in a small parish or shillings in a large one - and no parish totals have been altered from that of the original. The 1524 roll includes those laible for the anticipation irrespective of whether or not they had paid it. In only two instances is this noted on the roll, in Filleigh and Heanton Punchardon. The 1526 and 1527 rolls have been combined with the anticipation return and given on p.234.

Transcribing was mainly from microfilm but fairly extensive checks have been made of the originals in the Public Record Office and all names in the main transcript which were otherwise illegible have been examined under ultra-violet light. This, though not completely successful, brought in a good many extra names. Latin phrases have been translated where they occur; the 1524 East Budleigh group reviews are in English, those for 1525 in Latin. A few further notes on details in the transcript are given on p.xviii.

Review of Analytical Tables

Some tables have been prepared on the follwoing pages analysing certain aspects of the subsidy rolls. Tables 1 and 3 show the number of taxpayers in each of the categories of lands, goods and wages at varying levels of assessment and the amount of tax they contributed. As has been mentioned earlier those assessed on wages at £1 and goods at £1 form one group and cannot properly be differentiated. In some hundreds e.g. Shirwell all £1 assessments are expressed in goods and in others e.g. W.Budleigh and Crediton all are in wages. Even more to the point G1 in 1524 may be W1 in 1525 or vice versa; this is particularly common in Haytor hundred. It is not altogether clear what the reason for this is; it may perhaps have been easier in certain circumstances e.g. a day labourer to assess a man's goods rather than his wages. The tax was in any case the same but that the distinction was not always treated as unimportant is seen in Huntshaw parish where the £1 assessments were first marked goods and then crossed out and wages inserted. This group appears to be seriously understated in some parishes in the 1524 roll for Exminster and Teignbridge hundreds. Chudleigh for example has an additional 36 names in 1525 in this W1/G1 group. The group made up 36% of the taxpayers but contributed only about £160 or 4% of the total yield, hardly worth the bother of collecting one might think. It is true that administrative expenses were low - the work of assessing and collecting the tax from this group of nearly 10,000 men, including the writing out of their names several times, cost the crown about £4. The next group, those taxed on wages of £2 or more, is also in many cases difficult to distinguish from those assessed on goods because of the frequency with which an assessment at higher rates of wages was changed to goods of the same value in the alternate year. The highest wage in the roll is £10 for John Hervy of North Huish in 1525 but this was £10 in goods in 1524. Similarly John Hokeway of Crediton W5 in 1524, G5 in 1525. Addition of the next group shows that 56% of the taxpayers had not more than two pounds worth of goods, contributing 10% of the total tax, and going up the scale 80% had goods of £6 or less and 90% no more than £10, contributing nearly 40% of the total tax. The remaining 60% was contributed in nearly equal proportions by those with goods worth between £11 and £39 and by the richer class, those worth £40 or more in lands and goods, with a small amount from those with income from land at lower rates - a numerically quite small group. Women amount to 3.5% of the total number of taxpayers. They are presumably nearly all widows, even if it is not so stated, but in Meavy a singlewoman and two "maidens" are taxed.

B.D.Welchman©2004

Table 4 gives the number of parishes containing a given number of taxpayers. Next to Exeter Crediton had the largest number followed by Plymouth, Tiverton and Ottery st Mary. Half of the 440 Devon parishes in the roll had less than 50 taxpayers.

Table 6 is an abstract of occupations given in the roll. The servants given are mostly servants to a named person. These were required to be given by the act because the master of a living in servant was responsible for the tax though he could deduct it from the employee's wages. It is clear that many such servants are not named. The beginning of Cullompton parish, to take only one example, has several highly rated men followed by one or more rated at W1, almost certainly servants to these men.

Tables 2 and 5 show that, including Exeter, the total taxable population of Devon was about 28,000 who paid in 1524, by receipt into the exchequer, £4,677. The sum of the roll totals, about £365 for Exeter and £4,050 for the rest of Devon, is slightly lower than this but it is necessarily for a composite year 1524/5. The loan and the subsidy raised in the whole country about £358,700 of which Devon's share was £20,746 or 5.78%. It is hard to see how Wolsey's initial demand for a subsidy at 4/- in the £ to raise £800,000 could ever have been successful even if granted. Devon's share of this amount would have been £46,240. But on the evidence of the loan figures the contribution from those worth £5 and more would have been £21,490. Even if all those below G5 right down to the £1 wage earners had actually been taxed 4/- in the £ this would only have raised a further £6,805.

This table gives the number of taxpayers in one year in different tax groups, mostly in one pound steps, to the nearest pound. A middle figure between two pounds is allocated to the next higher group thus G or W 26/8d is allocated to W1/G1, G or W 30/- and 33/4d to G2 or W2. The W2+ column contains all those assessed on wages of 30/- and above, the G40+ and L40+ all those assessed on goods and lands respectively at £40 or more. Aliens assessed at nil are given in the W1/G1 column. The column headed Ill. to the left of the total column contains the number of those for whom the assessment in illegible. The totals include all those for whom an entry exists in the rolls, irrespective of whether the assessment or the name is legible. The two columns to the right of the total, A = Alien, W = Women, have already been included in the totals and are not additional to them. Due to shortage of space in the columns the figure after the decimal point in the cumulative percentage of total is given below the line. Winkleigh, given as a separate hundred in the roll, has here been included in the North Tawton hundred figures. The figures are taken from the main transcript, either 1524 or 1525, except in the case of Exminster and Teignbridge hundreds where, since there appears to be considerable underassessment of the W/G1 group in 1524, all figures have been taken from the 1525 roll.

Table 2. Missing Parishes.

In order to arrive at the total number of taxpayers in Devon it is necessary to add to the total in Table 1. an estimate for those parishes which are either completely or partially missing. Obviously there can be no certainty about this but the following figures are suggested based, in the case of the missing parishes, on the numbers in the 1569 muster roll and the 1642 protestation return, and in the case of the partially missing parishes both on these and on inference from the mutilated rolls where this is possible.

Missing Merton 55. N. Tawton 110. Clannaborough 15. Brushford 20. Coldridge 70. Egg Buckland 60. St Budeaux 80. Peter Tavy 40. Total 450.

| Partially missing. | Est. Total | In Transcript | Add |
|---|---|---|---|
| Talaton | 50 | 33 | 17 |
| S.Molton Borough | 160 | 81 | 79 |
| Morthoe | 36 | 4 | 32 |
| Petrockstow | 54 | 34 | 20 |

Thus the complete total for Devon would be 26,378 + 786 = 27,164 plus about 800 for Exeter (from Tudor Exeter), roughly 28,000 for the whole county.

The following parishes were either chapelries of or associated in some way with a larger parish (given in brackets) and the taxpayers may reasonably be assumed to be included in that parish's return.

Bulkworthy (Buckland Brewer)
E.Putford (Buckland Brewer and given as a sub section there)
Creacombe (Given with Romansleigh in the 1569 muster roll)
Sandford (Crediton)
Shute (Colyton)

Table 3. Amount contributed by each tax group in one year.

The amounts up to G19 are theoretical, that is they derive from the number of taxpayers multiplied by the tax payable in their group e.g. G3 : 2513 x 1/6d. For this reason they cannot be absolutely accurate because of intermediate values between pounds. In particular the W1/G1 group is bound to be under-valued slightly as it contains some who paid tax, usually at 6d, on assessments of 26/8d as well as aliens who paid 8d. In the groups from G20-39 the actual amounts paid have been abstracted from the transcript and totalled. Figures are to the nearest pound. The total of £4045 does not take account of the tax which would have been paid by the approximate 786 men missing from the roll or the 111 men for whom the assessment is illegible. It is therefore rather above the true total since the sum of the hundred totals in the rolls, taken wherever possible from 1524, and with an estimate of £100 for North Tawton hundred (see p.128) is £4049.15.8.

Table 7. Rolls in the Public Record Office

This lists all rolls for the period 1522-1527 excepting those for Exeter. All have been transcribed unless otherwise stated though not necessarily in their entirety (see The Transcript section of the introduction). The rolls are in the E179 class and this should precede the piece numbers given below for the full call number.

The Loan of 1523

97/193. East Budleigh (incomplete), Colyton and Ottery St Mary hundreds.

The Anticipation of 1523

97/186. A complete return both of those who were liable for and those who paid the anticipation. Exeter is included but has not been transcribed.

99/307 & 100/342 Between them these also give a complete return except for Exeter but 100/342 only gives the names of those who actually paid.

The Subsidies of 1524 and 1525

Complete here means that the roll contains all the parishes in the hundreds concerned. Parts of parishes may be missing however.

| Group | Hundreds | 1524 | | 1525 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1. | E.Budleigh,Colyton Ottery St Mary | 96/183 | Complete | 96/151 | Complete |
| 2. | Hemyock,Axminster | 96/139 | Hemyock only Complete | 96/152 | Axminster complete Hemyock incomplete |
| 3. | Hayridge,Tiverton Halberton,Bampton | 96/150 | Complete except for Talaton | 99/310 | Incomplete |
| 4. | W.Budleigh,Crediton | 96/182 | Complete | 97/187 | Incomplete |
| 5. | Wonford,Cliston | 97/188 | Incomplete | | |
| | | 96/146 | 5 parishes of which Heavitree only is legible | 96/154 | Complete |
| 6. | Witheridge,Winkleigh | 96/138 | Complete | 96/158 | Part of Kings Nympton only. Not transcribed. |
| 7. | South Molton | 97/194 | Complete | 97/191 | Incomplete |
| 8. | Braunton,Shirwell | 97/192 | Braunton to Morthoe | 96/156 237/22 | Incomplete |
| | | 96/157 | Ilfracombe to end of Shirwell H. Complete with both rolls | 97/189 241/359 | |
| 9. | Shebbear,Fremington | No roll | | 96/161 | Merton missing |
| 10. | North Tawton | 99/311 | 4 parishes missing | No roll | |
| 11. | Hartland,Torrington | 96/145 | Complete | 99/303* 102/546* | |
| 12. | Lifton Tavistock | 99/306 | Complete | 97/190 | Incomplete |
| 13. | Roborough,Plympton | No roll | | 96/153 | 3 parishes missing |
| 14. | Ermington,Stanborough | 96/149 | Probably complete but very poor | 96/159 | Complete |
| 15. | Coleridge,Haytor | 96/143 | Complete | 96/185 | Complete |
| 16 | Exminster, Teignbridge | 96/140 | Complete | 96/148 | Complete |

* 99/303 is a file of miscellaneous membranes, most of them not relating to this subsidy. Those that do contain part of Hartland hundred and possibly Black Torrington hundred but the parish headings are missing. 102/546 is a fragment containing Kigbeare hamlet. Neither of these has been transcribed.

The Subsidy of 1526

| | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Group 1. | 96/178 | Group 5. | 96/167 | Group 9. | 96/163 | Group 13. | 96/160 |
| 2. | 96/175 | 6. | 96/162 | 10. | 96/165 | 14. | 96/169 |
| 3. | 96/164 | 7. | 96/168 | 11. | 96/172 | 15. | 96/173 |
| 4. | 96/179 | 8. | 96/174 | 12. | 96/177 | 16 | 96/166 |

96/170 contains the divisions of the commissioners (see p.249). 96/176 is a duplicate of 96/166.

The Subsidy of 1527

The individual membranes for each group have been put together in two files 96/180 and 96/181. South Molton and Witheridge hundreds are missing.

Collectors Certificates

These are the certificates from the commissioners to the high collectors in 1524 and give, or should give, the amounts to be collected from each parish with the names of the subcollectors. The parish totals hardly ever agree with the totals in the subsidy rolls, being nearly always lower, and cannot be reconciled with them by taking into account anticipation payments and collectors fees. Where subcollectors names are given they have been abstracted and given on p.250 but otherwise these certificates have not been transcribed.

96/141 Groups 1,2,3,4,10,11,13,16 and Haytor hundred.
96/142 Coleridge hundred
96/148 Lifton and Tavistock hundreds. In poor condition.

B.D.Welchman©2004

Christian names are given in standard form and some common ones may be abbreviated where space is lacking.
The column opposite the names gives the man's assessment on wages (W), goods (G) or lands (L) in pounds and fractions of a pound.
The tax paid is not given. Except between £1 and £2 in wages or goods, for which see below, it can be readily calculated. For any assessment on lands, or on goods from £20 upwards, it is the assessment figure expressed in shillings instead of pounds (i.e. 1/- in the £). For wages or goods from £2 to £19 inclusive it is half the assessment figure expressed in shillings (i.e. 6d in the £). For wages or goods of £1 it is 4d.
The total at the foot of the parish is the total of the tax column.
This type face indicates a 1524 roll.
This type face indicates a 1525 roll.
? = a doubtful reading
.... = an illegible name or assessment
---- = a name or assessment lost through mutilation of the roll.
Where there is too much detail against a man's name in the roll to get on a line or two in columnar form it is marked with a reference number and given at the foot of the parish list.

Tax on assessments between £1 and £2

A line indicates either that the roll for that year is missing or that, not being the main transcript, the information was not recorded in collating; a blank space that there is no example of that assessment in the roll.

* In the 1525 roll for Exminster and Teignbridge hundred only the tax paid is given, not the assessment. Where intermediate assessments for this year are given in the transcript they have been calculated from the 1524 tax rate.

1525 It seems that a part of this parish is missing. The list follows the 1524 roll as far as *John Richards Wl except that Robert at Pay is replaced by John at Pay Wl and Baldwin Slape Wl is given between John Torner jun and Thomas Richards. *John Richards is the last name on the membrane and the next membrane attached to it is headed Total of the aforesaid parish £7.17.8. It is doubtful if this figure refers to Churchstanton at all as the total tax for the names given is in fact £8.0.6. There are probably two membranes missing which contain the rest of Churchstanton, Clayhidon and Awliscombe.

SILVERTON PARISH

The 1525 list is given here because the 1524 is mutilated at its beginning losing the first 7 names below completely and the next 4 surnames. From John Serle onwards it agrees with the 1525 in the same order. A few partially mutilated surnames have been made up from the 1524 roll.

TALATON PARISH

This parish is missing in 1524 and incomplete in 1525. The membrane is unevenly cut at the bottom after John Jane and Robert .... and the next membrane attached to it, which apparently continues it, is in fact part of Plymtree parish.

1525 *405 names. A few names are illegible. The names in the two rolls are in the same order and the names marked * above are assumed to be in the 1525 roll because the illegible names which match them have the same assessments. The four names marked + are matched by only ~~only~~ two illegible names, both W 1, i.e. two must be deleted for the 1525 roll but it is impossible to say which two.*

1524 and 1525

The 1524 roll is incomplete for this hundred. The 1525 roll is complete but both this and the 1524 roll suffer from some illegibility. The 1524 roll has been used as the main roll where possible and the 1525 substituted in cases where it is much more legible or where the parish is missing from the 1524 roll. The two rolls are distinguished by different type faces 1524 and 1525.

In addition the three Hawkyn names are replaced in 1525 by the surname Gonne with the same Christian names and assessments. Presumably this is an alias - if not there are a further three additions and deletions.

MORTHOE PARISH

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| John Colmore | G | 19 | John Rude | G 10 |
| John Frase | G | 18 | John Heddon | G 10 |

This parish is at the foot of the last membrane in E179/97/192 which is the first half of the original single 1524 roll for Braunton and Shirwell hundreds. There was presumably another membrane, now lost, which contained the remainder of Morthoe and the first part of Ilfracombe and which linked 97/192 to 96/157 the second half of the original roll.
In the 1525 roll Morthoe is similarly at the foot of a membrane,which appears to be cut short. It contains 10 names, without any total at the foot, but these names are illegible.

ILFARDECOMBE PARISH (Ilfracombe)

The first part of the 1524 roll and the last part of the 1525 roll are missing for this parish. The two rolls have therefore been used to produce a composite list. The first 36 names are taken from the 1525 roll and the remainder from the 1524 roll but names 37 to 89 (Elyn Redde, the last name in 1525) with the exception of John Harry G1 occur also in the 1525 roll in exactly the same order. It appears likely therefore that the list given here includes virtually all the inhabitants of Ilfracombe who were taxed in the subsidy.

PADDESTOWE PARISH (Petrockstow)

In the roll at the Public Record Office these names and the names which follow under Frithelstock are given as one parish under the above heading with no division except that they are on two membranes. The second membrane is a little mutilated at the top but appears to be complete. However the total of £9.11.2 at the foot cannot belong to the list as it is about £5 short of the calculated total. The names on the second membrane agree much better with Frithelstock from other records than they do with Petrockstow. Moreover in the anticipation John Davels is given in Petrockstow and William Blanchard in Frithelstock. The parish of Merton is missing from the roll and in my opinion an intermediate membrane is lost which contained the last part of Petrockstow, Merton and the first part of Frithelstock and I have divided the names on the two membranes accordingly.

The beginning, and probably the end, of this roll is lost. Because of the three assessments in it which are revised from those of the loan it can be fairly confidently dated 1524. There is no 1525 roll. There are four parishes missing - Brushford, Clannaborough, Coldridge and North Tawton

BURRINGTON PARISH

The first part of this parish, including the parish heading, has been torn away. It can be identified from the place name Barnpool and three of the Marchioness of Dorset's tenants of this manor appear in the list below.

This parish, at the foot of a membrane, ends this roll. As there is no hundred total it is presumed that at least one other membrane is missing.

The total for the hundred in the collectors certificate 96/141, which includes all parishes, is £91.9.6. The parish totals in this certificate are nearly always less than the figures given in the subsidy rolls themselves. The true total for this hundred would probably be close to £100.

WESTON PEVEREL PARISH ?

The roll is badly mutilated here with the parish heading being torn off. Four parishes are given in the collectors certificate for 1524 (196/141) which are missing or unidentified in this subsidy roll namely St Budeaux, Egg Buckland, Weston Peverel and Peter Tavy. The parish here is complete since the total agrees with that calculated for the given assessments and the number of names fits in best with Weston Peverel. The 1543 roll for that parish contains 19 names, amongst them Saunder and Ude.

The 1524 roll is very poor and so the 1525 roll has been used throughout for this group and the 1524 roll collated with it where possible. In Ermington hundred only Newton Ferrers parish and the tithing of Butterford are sufficiently legible to be able to do this.

COKYNGTON AND TORMONE PARISH (Cockington and Tormoham)

Although the names are given in 1524 without any division, in 1525 Cockington and Tormoham are given as separate parishes. As the names are given in the same order in both years it is possible to divide the 1524 roll in a similar way and this has been done here. Practically all those assessed G1 in 1524 are W1 in 1525.

1525 (Chudleigh) 99 names (65 1524). The names are in the same order as the 1524 roll down to its end. Assuming that Bawdon/Yow and Miller/Herne are aliases and that Edmond /Jn Boryngton is the same person there are two deletions from the 1524 list - Philip Dowwnyng G $2\frac{2}{3}$ and John Woldon G2 - i.e. down to John Boryngton the 1525 list contains 63 names. However after this it has the following 36 names which are not in the 1524 roll.

The lists for the anticipation of 1523 and the 1526 and 1527 subsidies have been joined in a single table and the 1524/5 listings repeated as it is felt that this will present a clearer picture of those assessed at £40 or more. The parishes and names are taken from the main anticipation return (97/186) which has been collated with the other two anticipation returns. In a few instances names in this tax category appear in one or more of the subsidies but not in the anticipation return and they have been added in italic type. On the other hand some names in the anticipation do not appear in the 1526/7 rolls though they apparently should do so though in this connection it must be remembered that the anticipation had a lower limit of £40, whereas that for 1526/7 was £50, on lands in 1526 and on goods in 1527. In addition the anticipation return contains the names of some absentee landlords and also for some unexplained reason the names of a few aliens who were worth little or nothing. In some instances the anticipation return lists a man's wealth as, for example, £60 assessed at £40. This means that the anticipation assessment, which was normally based on the loan of 1522, was a revised one. A separate column has therefore been introduced to cover this and where there is no entry in this it may be presumed that the assessment for the loan was the same as that for the anticipation. Not everyone who was liable actually paid the anticipation and an asterisk in the column headed "Pd" indicates that payment was made. The original return has a separate column for this with the amount usually in shillings but the figure is then the same as that for the assessment as the rate was 1/- in the £. Fractions of a pound have been ignored as they apparently were when payment was made e.g. 100 marks (£66.13.4) is marked 66/- in the payment column. For notes (N¹ etc) see foot of hundred.*

The names of the commissioners are given in Letters and Papers of Henry VIII Vol 3 part 2 3282; and, divided into their various groups, in the preambles to the rolls; in the 1524 South Molton roll 97/194; in 96/170 for 1526; and in 96/180 for 1527. The commissioners were the same for all four years though the number of those appearing in a particular division may vary slightly according to the source. Where available their assessments in the subsidy roll have been added. The dates on which the commissioners made their certificates are also given for each year. The year headings are those commonly used for the four years of the subsidy but a date in Nov/Dec e.g. under the heading 1524 would actually be Nov/Dec 1523. Hyphens (---) indicate that the information is not available either through illegibility or lack of a roll or its preamble.

In addition the following four are listed in Letters and Papers as commissioners appointed by Parliament though they do not appear in that capacity in any of the rolls : Sir William Courteney, Sir Thomas Denys, Robert Yewe and Humphrey Walrond.

The High Collectors

The high collectors changed each year. Their division into groups is not given in 1524, many of the preambles of that year give the names of all four. Their division for 1525 is given in the preamble to the Exminster/Teignbridge roll 96/184; that for 1526 is taken from the preambles; and that for 1527 is given in 96/180.

1524 John Coplestone of Coplestone (G666), John Cole of Slade (L133), John Arscot of Holsworthy (G133), John Strobrygge jun of Colyton (G66).

1525 John Strobrygge sen (G100) Groups 1,2,5,16.
Robert Byrte gent L40 Groups 3,6,10 and Shirwell hundred
John Beaple of Fremington(G20) Groups 7,9,11,12 and Braunton hundred
John Somaster (G80) Groups 4,13,14,15

1526 Walter Wraye of Bridestowe gent (G18) Groups 6,7,9,10,11,12
John Carswill Esq L40 Groups 1,2,5,14,16
The above two jointly Groups 3,4,15
Preambles illegible Groups 8,13

1527 Henry Sture gent (G40) Groups 4,5,10,12,13,14,15,16
Robert Hone of Ottery St Mary (G80) Groups 1,2,3,6,7,8,9,11
In addition William Futterell of North Huish also appears in the preambles of Groups 1 and 13 though he is not given in the main list in 96/180.

The Sub-Collectors

The following names of sub collectors for 1524 have been taken from the certificates of the commissioners to the high collectors (96/141 and 142). Although these certificates cover 19 hundreds unfortunately the names of sub collectors are only given in four of them. The assessments given in the subsidy rolls have been added.

The 1525 roll for the Hayridge group (3) of hundreds also gives the names of sub collectors but as the roll is very incomplete and many of the names are illegible it is not given here.
